

National Ornamental Metal Museum

An adaptive reuse project, the former historic marine hospital was converted into a library, meeting facility and event space. The building was torn down to its original elements, and repaired, replaced and reconstructed, with detailed attention to preserving the floors, windows and mouldings. Acoustics also were enhanced to meet modern-day needs.

PROJECT DETAILS

Completed: 2007
Cost: $500,000

